

Edition Terroir by Claus Jacob Blanc De Noir Buntsandstein

0,75 L

The red sandstone that today forms the massif of the Palatinate Forest was formed around 245 million years ago. Soils made of weathered red sandstone are particularly barren and pose a great challenge for the vine. In combination with the warm and sunny climate of the Palatinate, they offer ideal ripening conditions for the Blanc de Noir from the red sandstone. Fruity aromas of red berries with light citrus notes are accompanied by a fine mellowness. A fantastic companion for convivial evenings with friends.

Country of origin / region

Germany, Pfalz

Grape variety(s)

Blanc de Noir

Quality level

Quality Wine

Flavor

Dry

Flavors

Lemon

Strawberry & Raspberry

Wild berries

Alcohol (vol/%)

Residual sugar (g/L)

Total acid (g/L)

This fits well

Mediterranean

Pasta

Salads

White meat

Award(s)

EAN

EAN bottle 4018905581605

EAN Carton 4018905581612

Article number

88372